

SOCIAL POLITICS IN EUROPEAN BORDERLANDS

Organizers: Laura Downs (HEC)
Dominika Gruziel (HEC)

Contact: Laura.Borgese@eui.eu

Abstract: Borderland studies and welfare studies are two well-established multidisciplinary fields that have yet to really engage with one another. As its title suggests, our ERC project is predicated on bringing these two fields into direct dialogue with one another. Our lecture series seeks to launch such a dialogue by exploring new approaches to research on social welfare in culturally and ethnically diverse border regions. Nine scholars will present their own cutting-edge research alongside larger reflections on the legacies of empire in post-imperial borderlands, the role of local actors – primarily families and associations – in shaping welfare systems, how competition for local power affects the treatment of minorities, and the significance of borderlands for local, national and global histories.

29 NOVEMBER 2022 (3.00 PM)

Radka Šustrová (Charles University)

A Quest for Fairness. Workplace Justice and Authoritarian Regimes in Czechoslovakia

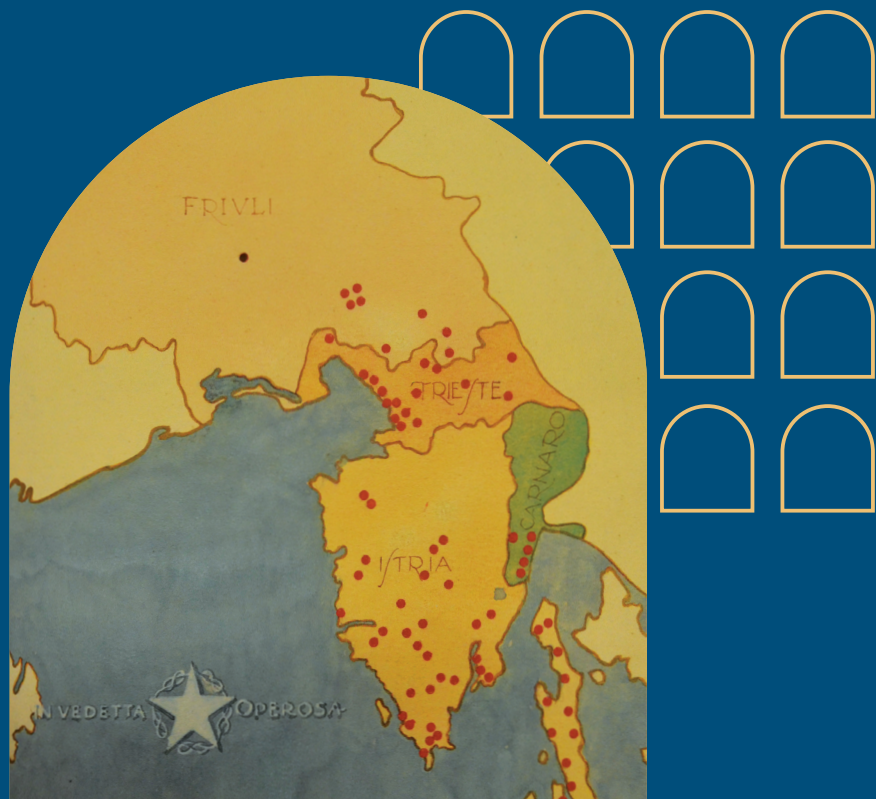

Register in advance: eui.eu/events?id=546810

12 DECEMBER 2022 (5.00 PM)

Jörg Hackmann (University of Szczecin)

Sobriety and Sociability. Temperance Movements in the Baltic Borderlands of the late Tsarist Empire

Register in advance: eui.eu/events?id=554443

18 JANUARY 2023 (5.00 PM)

Nuri Korkmaz (Kyrgyz-Turkish Manas University, Bursa Technical University)

New Religious Encounters in the Balkans: Analyzing the Salafist Experience

Register in advance: eui.eu/events?id=554371

10 FEBRUARY 2023 (3.00 PM)

Ana Kladnik (Institute of Contemporary History, Ljubljana)

Voluntary associations and local communities: Prekmurje in times of post-World War I. and II. political transformation

Register in advance: eui.eu/events?id=554372

2 MARCH 2023 (5.00 PM)

Rok Stergar (University of Ljubljana)

"Yugoslavia is worthless... you can get neither sugar nor kerosene." Food Supply and Political Legitimacy of the New Yugoslav State

Register in advance: eui.eu/events?id=554373